WELCOME

RICK MARKKO, EVENT MANAGER

Carlisle Events and Ford Motor Company wish to extend a hearty welcome to ALL members of the FOMOCO Family attending the 16th Anniversary of the Ford Family Reunion hosted by the Carlisle Ford Nationals.

You'll notice a lot of new things this year like the "Coyote" engine giveaway on Saturday. Thanks to our friends at Ford Racing, some lucky Blue Oval enthusiast will win a brand new 5.0L "Coyote" engine. Stop by the Ford Racing display or the Mustang Garage for the whole story and to check out this awesome power plant. The reason we're doing this is another very interesting story in itself.

Check out the status of the "Coyote Countdown" engine swap that is taking place in Building T. A tired old Fox-body Mustang is being restored with parts supplied by CJ Pony Parts. It is also having new life installed in the form of a "Coyote" engine performed by Kurgan Motorsports of Braselton, GA. (Read the article on page 13 for more details.) The Kurgan's are HUGE race fans and compete in both the NMRA & NMCA circuits where they are really kicking some tail. Be sure to ask them about their racing. Hopefully you entered the contest and are now watching the clock with great interest hoping to win the $1500 package of Ford Racing parts.

Also new this year is the First Annual Parade & Street Party in beautiful downtown Carlisle. Due to space limitations it is limited to 400 FOMOCO vehicles. Hopefully you are one of those lucky few to participate with your car. But we encourage everyone to head downtown Saturday night and enjoy the Parade & Street Party. (For more details, read the article on Page 7.)

We're celebrating the 40th anniversary of the Pinto. Check out the awesome collection of wild Pinto's in Building T. Then stroll over and talk to members of the "Pinto Stampede" that cruised all the way from Colorado, in their Pinto's! How cool is that? Be sure to ask them about the Ted Nugent autographed guitar that will be auctioned off this weekend in support of the Wounded Warrior Project.

61 Starliners are the "Stars of the Show" in Building Y. Fifty years later they are still one of the most sought after collectible vehicles produced by Ford. With the help of Zach Straits, we have assembled an awesome collection in Building Y for you to drool over, plus a few more in Building T to complete your viewing pleasure.

Speaking of awesome collections, do NOT miss the "Hall Of Kings" in Building G, by Gate 1. Thanks to Andy Roth for his tireless efforts in making this a reality, you'll see a once-in-a-lifetime display of King of the Road Mustangs. Surrounding the building are more Shelbys than you could ever imagine in one place at a time. Led by John Keller, Team Shelby North East Region is hosting a Reunion supported by Shelby American. Check out their displays at the Reunion and next to Ford Racing on the Manufacturers Midway.

Our ultimate collective goal is to bring you an event that showcases the esteemed history of the Ford Motor Company vehicles all of us enjoy and respect, and prepare you for the future. The future is reflected in the display vehicles you see at the Ford Performance Tour display on the Fairgrounds and the Ford Ride & Drive Event at the Expo Center (located just a block and a half outside Gate 3). To make your visit here more enjoyable, and to make it easier for you to get there, we are providing transportation to the Expo Center (check the map for pickup points). Once there, grab some free ice cream, tour the exhibit and take a test drive in one of the quality products offered by Ford.

Don't miss the "Walk Around" at the stage (check schedule for exact times and vehicles). Ford dignitaries like Dave Pericak, Wayne Geoffrey, Jesse Kershaw, and others are scheduled to appear. The Ford Performance Group is sponsoring the Coolest Club Hangout and John Clor will be picking the winner. So, get those club tents ready to perform for John.

Displaying all weekend is a resurrected race team, The Frantic Ford. They will be making the Friday "Trip to the Track" to show off the power developed by Ford Racing and they are match racing the War Horse. More proof of Ford's unbeatable prowess on the track and the street.

Book signings/pre-sales are "The Happening" this weekend. Donald Farr is pre-selling his new book about the Boss 302 and Marcie Cipriani and "GT" Joey Limongelli are signing their new book about the Ford GT and Jerry Heasley is pre-selling his new book on Rare Finds. Sam Auxier, Jr. will be broadcasting live from his roost in Building T alongside his Pro-Stock Pinto race car and recording interviews for future broadcasts on his hit radio show produced by Bob Long radio.

With all of these exciting events and displays, use this directory as a resource to find them all. Please be sure to complete our post-event survey and sign up for our Carlisle Events E-Newsletter.

Thank you for being a part of our annual Ford Family Reunion as we celebrate and honor the timeless classics produced by Ford, Lincoln and Mercury.

from the Fox-Body 1993 Mustang Coupe and replace it with a new Ford Racing "Coyote" 5.0L V-8. Kurgan's Mustang has already undergone some initial restorations and has made its way to Carlisle for the engine swap. Once the swap is done, they're going to drive this pony over to the burnout pit and see how it performs. This entire project is being undertaken by Kurgan Motorsports with additional support from Ford Racing, CJ Pony Parts and more than a half dozen other sponsors.

DYNO TESTING

Accelerated Motorsports, the official dyno of Carlisle Events, provides mobile Dyno tuning for cars and trucks using their Dynojet 248 chassis dynamometer. Their wide band O₂ monitoring will determine if all that precious fuel is making power or just being wasted out the tailpipes. Testing will cover front and rear-wheel drive cars and trucks, including diesels. Fee applies. (SEE MAP). Attention clubs: Coming early or staying late? Club rates may apply for off-peak hours (minimum number of vehicles may be required). For more information, contact the Carlisle Dyno Guy at 215.297.8139 or dale@acceleratedmotorsports.com awesome display of these timeless classics. There are pristine KR's from the golden years of the '60s and fresh horses from this new millennium. Imagine King of the Road Mustangs from both the 20th century and the 21st century – this is a once-in-a-lifetime display that you must see. Run, don't walk, to Building G (located near Gate 1). Outside the building there are lots of vintage, classic and new generation Shelybs on display as well. This is an "Official Team Shelby" event supported by Shelby American with factory representatives on-site.

1961 GALAXIE STARLINER

CELEBRATING ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY
Building Y will feature an awesome display of what many consider to be the best-looking of the classic big Galaxies, the Starliner. It even won a design award from an international design authority. The Centro per L'Alta Moda Italiana presented its award for "functional expression of classic beauty" to the 1961 Starliner. The '61 Starliner was the first Ford and the first manufacturer to top the magical 400 hp barrier with its 401 hp three two-barrel offering. Having just come from an industry-wide ban on direct participation in motorsports, the Starliner would become the poster child for the new "Total Performance" years at Ford.

PINTO STAMPEDE

CELEBRATING THE PINTO'S 40TH ANNIVERSARY
You're going to see more Pintos on our NPD sponsored showfield than you have ever seen before, and most probably ever after. After 1600 miles and more than a wagon full of states, be sure to welcome the members of the Pinto Stampede. This posse has galloped more than halfway across the country, like the old Pony Express riders, all riding the same horse, a Pinto. The trip began in Denver, Colorado, on May 29th and while it's for fun, it's also a benefit for the Wounded Warrior Project. Tune up your emotions for the soldiers because you have a chance at winning an autographed Ted Nugent guitar. More details are available by stopping by the Pinto Stampede Corral. (see map)

Contestants for Ms. Carlisle compete for cash prizes on Saturday evening at the grandstand. Ladies must register at Guest Services by the stage. Must be 18 with valid ID. Complete rules and contest format are available on registration form.

PARADE AND STREET PARTY.....

The FIRST EVER Ford Parade and Street Party is Saturday evening at 6:45 p.m. from the Carlisle Fairgrounds to the square in Downtown Carlisle. The parade is limited to 400 Ford, Lincoln and Mercury vehicles and you may register until it is full for $15 in the tent next to the Goody Bag Garage. Leading the parade will be a group of Ford officials showing off their hot new products. Following are members of Team Shelby supported by Shelby American. Escorting the parade are the Special Service Mustang Owner's Association, consisting of Mustang police cars. This group recently cruised in from Massachusetts, beginning in Sturbridge. In addition to the parade, spectators can enjoy some specialty vehicles including race cars and a wide variety of food, fanfare and quality live entertainment.

NEW BOSS 302 BOOK AND AUTOGRAPHS

This weekend is not only a display of muscle, but brain power. Join author and current editor of Mustang Monthly Magazine Donald Farr along with Ford for your chance to pre-order Farr's latest project, a brand new book on Ford's new Boss 302. With Farr at the pen and Ford at the wheel, you know this will be a great read! The Yellow Mustang Registry has attended since 2002 when they had 31 cars registered. In 2004, they had 51 yellow Mustangs and were given a dedicated parking area on the NPD Showfield. They've been lighting up the NPD Showfield with their traveling sunshine ever since (even during some of the rainy years too). Each region holds several mini-gatherings every year and they love to cruise together in long lines of yellow. "It is amazing how many bystanders point, stop their cars to snap a pic with the phone or just gaze in awe of that many yellow cars in a row (let alone all Mustangs)."

THE FORD PINTO TURNS 40

BY JOHN M. CLOR
AUTHOR, THE MUSTANG DYNASTY

It's now been 40 years since Detroit got serious about taking on the imports. But four decades ago that sales war was being waged mostly on the ever-growing subcompact front, with VW's Beetle the champ among an expanding number of imported models.

After Ford's first two "import fighters," the compact Falcon and Maverick, successfully began and ended their runs in the '60s, they were considered more by buyers of American cars than buyers of imports, which had grown to 16 percent of total U.S. car sales and nearly 40 percent of the trend-setting Southern California market by 1970. It was apparent that if the Big Three were to stem the import tide, it needed a true subcompact.

Detroit's first shot across the import bow was fired by American Motors, which introduced its little Gremlin on April Fool's Day, 1970. For the 1971 model year, GM had the Chevrolet Vega, and Chrysler could counter only with the Dodge Colt, built in Japan by Mitsubishi, and the Plymouth Cricket, built in England by Austin.

Ford's answer was the Pinto, a chunky two-door fastback introduced on Sept. 11, 1970. Developed as Project Phoenix, it began life in the mid-'60s code named the G-Car, with a transverse inline four mounted in the rear. In part to speed development, that chassis layout was discarded for a conventional front-engine, live rear-axle design, but the overall body style was retained.

The result was a Euro-American hybrid in a Beetle-sized package using engines from Ford of Europe subsidiaries. Pinto came with the 1.6-liter (98 cid) 75-hp inline four from the British Cortina; optional was the 2.0-liter (122 cid) SOHC 100-hp four from the German Taunus. Both cast-iron motors came mated to European four-speed manuals, with Ford's three-speed Cruise-O-Matic optional only with the 2.0-liter.

Pinto was initially labeled only as a two-door sedan, but Ford responded to complaints of poor trunk space with a hatchback "Runabout" in mid-'71, sporting a fold-down rear seat. In '72 a two-door station wagon was added, a version which proved very popular.

Ford called Pinto "a frisky new little car [that] kicks up its heels," promoting its simplicity and user-friendly nature. The owner's manual explained many routine DIY maintenance chores, and a special ignition key was offered that could be used as an emergency screwdriver and spark-plug gapper.

But as in its previous responses to an import threat, Ford's biggest competition came from Chevrolet, and Pinto's came from Vega. Though smaller (94.2-in wheelbase vs. 97), lighter (1,949 lbs vs. 2,146) and less technically daring than Vega, Pinto had a mechanical advantage that rested in its well-proven European powerplants and rack-and-pinion steering.

It also carried classic Ford styling cues in a more American-looking package, while the Vega had a more foreign look similar to a Fiat 124. With performance and fuel economy not quite on par with some European and Japanese cars, Pinto and Vega did little to slow imports. In fact, the only import that Pinto killed was Ford's own Cortina, which was pulled from U.S. dealers after 1970.

Vega and Pinto sparked inevitable comparisons, and the press tended to be more impressed with the somewhat sportier Vega. Road & Track wrote that while Vega is "by far the more interesting design... Pinto happens to be the more pleasant car to drive in everyday use." It said Pinto "is somewhat less roomy, and in standard form, it's not as quick as a standard Vega. But, thanks to a quieter and smoother engine, a superior gearbox, somewhat greater comfort for the driver and better finish throughout, it is subjectively the nicer car." A 2.0-liter ($82 extra) model Pinto with front disc brakes ($32) was liked even more.

Despite an early outbreak of underhood fires that forced a minor recall to fix some leaky carbs, Pinto drew more than 350,000 buyers in its very first year. It then went on to outsell the trouble-plagued Vega in every single model year afterward.

Continually refined with mechanical upgrades and better trim, Pinto saw just two face-lifts – in '77 to a "soft" slant-nose look, and in '79 with a "shovel-nose" to incorporate the new, square headlights. When stricter, power-sapping emissions laws hit, Pinto received a new, U.S.-built 140 cid 2.3-liter four ('74) which served it until the end, and lives on in later Fords. Pinto even offered V6s, a 2.6 liter ('75) and 2.8 liter (1975-79).

The Pinto, however, is all-too-often remembered mostly as "a car fire waiting to happen," due to some highly publicized fuel-tank fires in rear-end collisions of early models, and several subsequent fatalities. While Chevy's Corvair was the first car killed by safety critics, Pinto was the first to be killed by the media, who had a veritable field day with sensationalist crash reports after Ford became involved in criminal litigation.

Some legal cases charged Ford Motor Co. with reckless homicide in selling Pintos without warning buyers that the cars may explode if hit hard enough from behind – despite the undeniable fact that most any of the compact cars from that era were subject to the same laws of physics as the Pinto – and some even had a higher incidence of fires in rear-end collisions!

Sanity prevailed, and Ford was eventually acquitted in a high-profile federal case in Indiana, but the media hounds had already wreaked havoc on the car's reputation. Although Ford recalled about 1.5 million 1971-75 Pintos to revamp the filler-neck design and shield the gas tank from impacting against the differential in a severe rear-end collision, there was no stopping the fact that car fires and the Pinto became synonymous in the public's eye.

Worse still, a Ford actuarial table leaked to a self-proclaimed consumer protectionist publication sparked an ethics debate on the cost of large-scale auto recalls vs. that of settling wrongful death lawsuits, prompting some would-be do-gooders to paint Ford as the epitome of what's wrong with corporate America – yet completely ignoring the fact that such cost analysis is an everyday part of big business, especially in the health care and insurance industries.

But unlike Corvair, it was the marketplace that really determined the length of Pinto's automotive life. Pinto's legal troubles did more to blacken Ford's PR image than the car's, with Pinto sales falling by '78 as stories about the fires and lawsuits swept the media, but rebounding again in 1979-80 thanks to the oil crisis increasing demand for inexpensive, fuel-efficient cars, while opening the door for a wave of new front-drivers. For enthusiasts, Pinto's 2.0- and 2.3-liter engines were the basis for SCCA racing series, and hot-rodders soon popularized swapping V8s into Pintos for the street and strip.

When it was finally replaced by the Ford Escort for 1981, Pinto was labeled by one auto journalist as a car "nobody loved, but everybody bought." Really loving it aside, more than 3.1 million people liked it enough to buy it – and Pinto galloped off as the decade's only true domestic subcompact sales success story.

Today, scores of former owners remember fondly the Pinto's place in their motoring past. It's unfortunate that the public's polluted perception has since become reality for the poor Pinto, which was otherwise a winner as an inexpensive, domestically produced economy car. As Ford celebrates the modern design, safety, fuel economy and technology of its freshest subcompact entry, the 2011 Fiesta, Pinto fans everywhere recognize the Pinto as a small-car pioneer while faithful owners celebrate this fun little Ford's 40th Anniversary!

1966 FORD MUSTANG
Ralph Fowler, Jr.

1963.5 FORD GALAXIE
Lee Holman

Driven by famous NASCAR driver Fireball Roberts'. Owner is the son of the founder of Holman/Moody race shop.

The owner of this car has actually owned it twice. In 1966 Ralph Fowler, Sr. purchased the car and over time, it became Ralph Jr.'s ride. In 1993 the younger Fowler sold the car because it wasn't getting much use and he was concerned about its upkeep. Fast forward to 2010 and Fall Carlisle. Ralph Jr. and his son came to Carlisle because much like Ralph, his son is into cars. They'd been looking for a Mustang but couldn't find the right car at the right price. All of a sudden Ralph didn't just find a Mustang, he found HIS Mustang. The car had unique characteristics that were undeniable. Ultimately, the VIN number matched what Ralph's mom was able to find from the original purchase agreement. Better yet, the Mustang had only 10,000 more miles on it than it did 17 years before. Ralph got his son a Mustang and the Fowler family got its car back.

- Severe fatigue
- Enlarged tongue
- Irregular heartbeat
- Difficulty swallowing
- Skin changes

HEACOCK CLASSIC COLLECTOR CAR INSURANCE

Have you ever wondered what collector car insurance is all about? It's simple, "passion." Heacock Classic Insurance knows that collector cars receive better care and are driven less than the family vehicle, therefore, classic car insurance rates are lowered. Their goal is to offer a custom, low-cost program designed to fit your needs. Collector car insurance from Heacock Classic provides "Agreed Value" coverage, full coverage during restoration, coverage for modifications, and your right to choose your own repair shop if your car is damaged. You also get to choose zero deductible and automatically get $50,000 coverage for 30 days when you purchase a new classic car. After you request a quote, a status report is usually ready within 24 hours. Then they will contact you to review it and hopefully activate your new insurance policy. It's simple, easy and the best way to properly protect your investment. Call them today at 800-678-5183 or go online at www.HeacockClassic.com

Ultimate Bolt-on Performance!

If you're serious about winning, then get serious about the parts you use. Find out what thousands of Ford enthusiasts already know—premium-quality cylinder heads, intake manifolds, and engine components from Trick Flow deliver the power you need to get ahead on the street and on the track.

Trick Flow pays more in NMRA contingency for cylinder heads than any other manufacturer because Trick Flow-equipped race cars win more races! Trick Flow pays contingency on all of its cylinder heads, intake manifolds, and TFX™ fuel injectors.

To learn more about Trick Flow and the advantages of our race-winning products, visit us at TrickFlow.com or call 1-330-630-1555.
